VILLAGE ELECTION.

AT A MEETING of the Trustees of the Village of Wellsville, held Friday evening, Aug. 2d, the following resolution was adopted:

1) Resolved, That the sum of Three Thousand Dollars be raised by tax on the taxable property of said village for the purposes of building a suitable Fire Engine House in said village with a session room above for the meetings of the fire company or companies, therein organized. Said house to be built of brick; 25 feet wide, 40 feet long, and 25 feet high to the eaves, of which eight the session room shall occupy 15 feet.

2) Resolved, That the sum of one hundred dollars be raised by tax on the taxable property of the village of Wellsville for the purpose of procuring and laying down pump logs to convey water to the public tanks in said village.—Wellsville, Aug. 2d, 1867.

VILLAGE MATTERS.

Another Village Election.

Our village people will undoubtedly smile out loud" when they read the notice given by the board of Trustees for another election.—The sum wanted this time is so very small, and, taxes have been so light that they will, of course, pay no attention to this election.—Why should they? These things are needed—the engine house of brick and the water, and it is so easy to stay away—growl at the board for thinking of these things; growl because you are asked that two or three hours of your valuable time should be given to the consideration of the general interests of the community in which you live; growl because the thing goes on if you do stay away; growl because the Members of the Board are not very badly scared because you are growling; and howl—that is the word, because the Board, after they have decided to do a thing, do not go in a body to each man in the village, ask his opinion as to how the thing in question should be done and then follow that advice to the letter. As this is simply another move for the sole benefit of one of the Members of the Board it is hoped, notwithstanding the votes are by ballot, that no one but the Board will attend. Like the erring sisters (States) South it only wants to be "let alone." One vote cast in the affirmative and none in the negative, at a regularly called, duly conducted election, makes that election binding for all lawful purposes, and there being four men on the Board, besides the Clerk, notice is hereby given that BY. GORDON, Capt. COATS and the man from the printing office will not be needed the next time.

Got Drunk, and Got Whipped.

Friday a mason got a horse and buggy of Mr. Dobbins to go riding. Not returning "on time" Mr. D. set out towards night to look for him. The man had got drunk—got a young woman of an un—no, very certain reputation, on with him. She got disgusted—and, got out—he got out to find her—couldn't—went back for her little sister—sister's father "went" for him and he got what he didn't come for—a good whipping. Just at this time Mr. D. and a hired man came for the horse—man objected and the hired man jerked him out of the buggy and gave the amorous chap another thrashing. There is only one regret about the whole affair, and that was the neglect of the little girl's father to break the brute's neck.

Base Ball in Wellsville.

Last week the Genesee club of this village were invited to play a friendly game with the Active club (Juniors) of Hornellsville on the grounds of the former in this village. The game came off Monday afternoon and resulted in a score of 41 for the Genesee club to 12 for the Actives.

The Active lads were at a double disadvantage on account of batting and the very rough ground to which they were totally unused.—Their play at the bases excelled that of the Genesee's, and, they caught six fly balls to five for the other club. The weather was hot and the spectators had no shade, yet on the whole the game passed pleasantly.

Time—One hour and forty-five minutes.

Scorers—WM. PRANGEN, Active club, and H. C. FISK, Genesee Club.

Umpire—A. MILLER, of the Angelica club.

New Base Ball Club.

Some of the young men of this village met on Monday evening, in the Reading Room and formed a club for playing this game.—It will be known as the Cretan B. B. C., and has for President, Capt. HIRAM A. COATS; for Sec'y SAMUEL HANKS; and for Treasurer, A. J. BROWN. They have some good players and up-top material, and the Genesee club will have to look to their laurels. They will use the grounds across the river.

Ran Away.

Last Wednesday a young team belonging to BENNETT ROWLAND, Esq. of this village, was hitched to a top buggy and his son, LEVI, and daughter MARY started for the Gotham side of the river. While crossing the lower bridge the team took fright, dashed off the bridge and ran into the high bank on the left side of the street, as you come from the bridge. The pace was terrific and the smash that ended complete. Both the occupants of the buggy escaped completely except a "scare" for Miss ROWLAND. It was a marvelous escape. The buggy wants "fixing."

Building Matters.

The foundation walls of New Baptist Church are nearly completed.—York & Barnes' new building is getting on finely. The brick work on the lower story is nearly completed.—BEEBE's new meat market is almost finished.—Work on Union Block is being driven ahead fast as possible. Piles of brick are looming up in its neighborhood.—The foundation walls of Hamm's bakery are complete.—The Methodist Church is being repaired inside.—J. B. Aiken is building a dwelling house on the above the Episcopal church. The last named edifice is almost ready for use.

Temperance Meeting.

There was a largely attended temperance meeting held in the Congregational Church on Sunday Evening. It was addressed by Rev. S. B. DICKINSON, late of St. Louis, and present Agent of Allegany Co. Temperance Society. Mr. D. is now perfecting arrangements to organize the temperance sentiment of the County into a working body for the enforcement of the present Excise Law.

Church Courtesy.

The Congregational Society in the village, and Mr. LIVINGSTON, pastor, have tendered the use of their Church for the morning Service to the Methodist Society, which, owing to repairs being made in their Church, had no place to worship. These acts of courtesy, though not rare, are none the less kindly and free, and go far toward leveling the walls sectarianism and prejudice would build around the various societies.

Select School.

We are informed that Miss FORD's school of young ladies will commence some time during the first half of September. This is a first class school and is highly esteemed in our village.

Injured by a Base Ball.

During the game on Monday a passed ball, thrown from the 2nd base toward the 1st, struck Mrs. HIRAM L. JONES in the eye, inflicting a painful bruise. Had it not first hit the parasol the injury would have been greater.

Another Paper in Allegany.

We are informed that a paper is to be started in Belmont. If it is to be a good straight radical paper, it is good. If it is to be central or democratic it had better go to some other section.

At Home.

Hon. E. J. FARNUM is at home on a short leave of absence from the Convention.

We Understand that

Messrs. WHITE & FISHER are to occupy the new store of Doty Bros. This store is to be finished off in a first class style and when completed will be one of the largest and finest in the country. They expect to move into it about the first of Sept.

They are Boring for Oil

At the Shingle House, on the Oswayo. Indications said to be good.

Corkscrews on the Canal.

Among the items of expenses charged to the State by the Auditor is one for corkscrews.

Drowned.

A lad named SIMERSON was drowned while bathing in the river near Scio, on Monday evening last. He was about fourteen years old.

B. B. Clubs.

They have another base ball club in Belmont.

Alma is not going to be behind other towns in the National game, and it now has an organized base ball club.

New Dress.

The Dansville Express comes to us with a new heading, and otherwise improved in appearance. It is one of the most outspoken Republican papers in Livingston County, and is worthy abundant success.

Charge of False Pretenses.

A. N. ROSE, of Wellsville, Allegany Co., who was arrested a few days since on a charge of obtaining goods of Smith & Perkins, of this city, under false pretenses, was taken from jail this morning before the police magistrate for examination. He waived examination and was held to bail to answer at a higher court.—Rochester Democrat.

Two Little Boys,

Named Edwin Pier and George Merryfield, while returning from school to their homes in Corry, stopped to play on a sand bank, leaving their dinner pail by the side of the road.—The bank caved in, burying both of them beneath the sand. But for the dinner pails remaining in sight, their fate might not have been discovered. They were both dead when excavated.

Railroad Bridge Burned.

About 1 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, the Railroad bridge, spanning the Olean Creek, just below the depot was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was given, and our firemen with their apparatus hastened to the scene of conflagration, but too late to be of service.—The bridge was totally destroyed. It was a covered structure, of about 100 feet span. A new one will be built immediately, and meantime trains will have to run to and from the east and west and change. A day or two will put everything in order.—Olean Advertiser.

The Accusation Against Hon. L. C. Peck

The charge against Hon. L. C. Peck of Nunda, made at Buffalo, in which it was alleged that he was implicated in a conspiracy to plunder an insurance company has utterly failed. Mr. P. was not put upon his defence and the magistrate expressed the opinion that there was nothing in the testimony of the prosecution in any degree to implicate defendant or to cast upon his character.—Mt. Morris Union.

A Boy Named Webster,

Fourteen years old, fell from a tree at Union Mills a few days since and was killed. He was at a pic-nic. His father objected to his going, but consented on condition that his son should not climb trees. The boy either forgot or disregarded the parental warning, climbed a tree for the purpose of getting a swing. A limb broke with him and he fell, injuring his spine fatally. He however got up, and remarking "That's for disobedience," sank to the ground. In the evening he died, after suffering great agony.

A Good One.

The Olean Times is responsible for the following good thing:

A Quaker or Shaker with a wagon load of brooms went from Olean to Portville, and in a day or two returned. Near Weston's he met a rough, "unregenerate" Pennsylvanian, just up from Olean with a load of merchandise, who was "condemning" the hot road which he had just passed over, or through, in terms more emphatic than genteel—in fact was giving the said road a characteristic Buckeye cursing, when "Broomes" thus spake:—"Friend, I am under nothing obligations to thee. What thou hast done I would have done, but that my religion forbids. Let rest not, however, my conscience bridle thine; give thine indignation wings, and suffer not the prejudice of others to paralyze the tongue of justice and long suffering. Yea, verily! forcibly impress upon this people the necessity of speedily mending their ways."

The Valley Canal.

The following item is from the "Editorial Melange" of a county contemporary of last week:

Some of the Radical papers which caught to advocate the interest of the Genesee Valley are proving "recreant to their duties, and discouraging the adjournment of the Canal.—A Journal which has not the to expend one cent loose from party, and stand firm in the defense of the interest of its locality, deserves to be discountenanced by the whole community whose interests it betrays.

And this is from the "Local Melange" of the same paper of the same date:

An empty canal boat was stuck on a bar, near this village, a few days since. Is it any wonder that the "ditch" does not pay?

Exceedingly Appropriate.

The man who conceived the idea embraced in the following paragraph, was born a genius. He must have an instinctive appreciation of the philosophy of the eternal fitness of things:—Olean Advertiser.

NEW FURNITURE.—Some one has done a good thing in manufacturing an article of chamber furniture, in the bottom of which is a correct likeness of Gen. Butler. Thousands of those articles have been sold in the South. A friend sends us one, which is unique, valuable and appropriate. The General has gone to pot sure!"

This reminds us of the reply of the American when shown the portrait of Washington suspended in an Englishman's Privy, "Very appropriate, if the Picture of Washington will not physic an Englishman, I don't know what will." Evidently these articles of Furniture are being extensively circulated among the Copperheads. By the uneasiness manifested we would say that Brick Pomeroy, J. T. Henry, and several others had received one.—Randolph Register.

All Too True.

The Fredonia Censor moralizes "thusly" on swimming in early morning and kindred hygeinic practices:

"If any body asks you to go down to the lake before breakfast to swim, don't go. We have tried it, and more chilling than the book of any fabled step-mother was that of Lake Erie on a cloudy morning at 6 o'clock, as we sat, like a shipwrecked mariner, upon a piece of driftwood and contemplated the cold fluid before us. Without the original plan, however, and plunged in; but that run like a blue racer up and down the beach to restore circulation on coming out, was the hardest pursuit of pleasure we ever had, and the least successful. The fact is, there have been a lot of health periodicals laying around on our table, and that morning's experiment was the result of reading them. According to these journals, nothing seems to be healthy that is comfortable. You must retire and rise with the hens, bathe before breakfast, sleep in a cold room all winter and wear flannels in the summer, live on bran bread, always rise from the table hungry, eschew fine flour, warm biscuit, beef steak, coffee and tea, soft pillows and feather beds, in short, make yourself as uncomfortable as possible and you shall enjoy health. The other remedies may work better, but the one we tried gave us the first headache we have had for years.

Base Ball at Belmont.

Last Tuesday the "boys" of the Genesee Base Ball Club of this village, invited themselves to go down to Belmont and play a friendly game with Belmont Club, which had just been organized. The notice given was so short, that it was almost a surprise for the Belmonters, but having such men as Col. SCOTT, Capt. CARTWRIGHT, NORTON and the like to swing a bat, they simply said "come on!"

The Club from this village was received at the station, placed in a carriage, taken to a hotel and there taken in. Game was called at 3 p. m., and the Genesee Club was again taken in—in a lively game which resulted in score of 57 for the Belmont Club to 52 for the Genesee boys. Col. SCOTT managed the Belmont nine, and H. C. FISK the Genesee nine. This victory of the Belmont Club was decidedly a "big thing" for them when the short time for practice which they had had is considered. Doctor CARVER, of Angelica, acted as umpire, and performed his rather delicate duties in a manner which for promptness and fairness could not be excelled.

The hospitality extended by the Belmonters was manly in the extreme. Their President, Mr. S. J. PIKE doing all in his power to render their stay agreeable. The supper at the Exchange Hotel was excellent; and, had the capacity for holding fowls developed at the table been equalled by a like capacity for holding "fowls" in the field, the score on one side might have been shorter. This remark is to apply to the 3d baseman of the Genesee Club, who, by the way, was promoted captain of the junior nine. Modesty alone forbids the mention of his name.

Business Items.

Flour made from New Wheat.

If you want a good—the best—fruit jars, get the Spencer Self Sealing Fruit Jar. See advertisement. They can be had of Messrs. White & Fisher.

Fresh Tomatoes.

KENYON has got some quantity of fresh tomatoes. They are ripe, of large size and delicious flavor. Try some of them; you can't invest a half dollar anywhere.

Quick Work.

When the store of Mr. A. A. GRAVELEY, of this village, was lately lost by fire, he received, through Mr. WM. ARMSTRONG, his insurance from the Girard's Falls Company on Tuesday last. His loss occurred on the 21st inst. This is speedy work. Just about as quick as the mail could go to and from Girard's Falls.

Wild Cherry Balsam.

The merits of Dr. Wistar's cordial are well known throughout the country. The Wild Cherry has earned a capital, world, combining it, or some other form of pulmonary disease. It is now over forty years since this preparation was brought before the public and yet the demand for it is constantly increasing.

The Attention

Of the readers of the FREE PRESS is called to the new card of J. D. MANSFIELD & SONS, Auctioneers & Agents. They are known and favorably known as energetic, prompt and reliable business men, and as such it is a pleasure for us of the newspaper fraternity to put in a word in behalf of the business confidence they have so long enjoyed.

Washing Machines.

Father HALE is selling a washing machine in this village, which the people who have used it say, "is a success." And some of the people who have used these machines are Mrs. WM. A. BALDWIN, Mrs. L. J. FARNUM, Mrs. A. HOWARD, and others. We are going to have one at our house next week, and if it washes, we will say so. If it won't we'll say that it won't. And, Father HALE says, "all right."

The Last Day Next Year.

So say some of the so-styled Adventists. It may be they are right, and that there will be no failure this time, not a mistake, an error or two in dates which have already occurred. Yet, no one should neglect insuring their buildings in these first class, safe companies represented by Mr. ARMSTRONG, on that account. The world may not burn, and the buildings may—at least the probabilities are that way. His new company, the Market Fire Insurance Company, on the Participation Plan, is one of the cheapest and safest out.—Office over Baldwin's Store. Call early.

Terrific Explosion of Gas!!—All About the Mutual Life.

EDITOR FREE PRESS:—It appears that some great unknown tremendous, whose weapons of offence are dangerously explosive and whose defence is a triangle of stars, having been spoiling for a free fight until he must "pitch in or burst" has stolen your editorial robe in order to furnish your readers with a re-hash of a most brilliant and desperate assault on the Mutual Life Ins. Co., of N. Y., made "away down east" in 1865, smashing that institution to atoms, then elevates the coverings of his pedal sticks, retires within his triangle and triumphantly heralds:

"He who dares does to its display,
Shall meet Bombastes face to face."

Really, Col., this is too bad, and worse than shooting "dead ducks," for the Mutual Life was nearly killed at Worcester in Nov. 1865. Certainly this "new hand at the bellows," whose "best hold" is his throat and heels, will outlive the Mutual Life, as the Medical Examiner of a certain Life Ins. Co. maintains that the position and length of a man's auricular appendages has much to do with his vitality and longevity. If this is true, your contributor has no reason to complain as does Dean Swift's donkey, that

"He has one fault, he's sorry for't,
His ears are half a foot too short."

But really and seriously, Mr. Editor, can you inform me the motives that govern your correspondents in their small potato attacks on this company? It seems to be a "dog in the manger" operation; what relation do they hold to it?

Have they or any body else suffered by it, or do they represent some rival institution? If they do, why not come out boldly, manfully and openly with the name and merits of their respective companies, and give us examples and specimens of their doings and dividends, with names and residences for reference? Why not give the public a single instance where, on the part note system, they ever paid a policy owner a dividend in cash, or one cent in addition to his policy.

They all know that the Mutual Life prohibits its agents from promising what the dividends will be in the future, and only allow them to state what they have been in the past. They know that the first circular issued at Wellsville Agency, contains the following:

"This Company allows none of its agents to say to any one how much less his insurance will cost from year to year, but they are allowed to state actual results thus far, and that they know of no reason why "in the future as in the past, its success will not be as great, and consequently its insurance the cheapest, as heretofore."

This is just what they are allowed to promise, no more, whilst the note plan agents are allowed to and do promise that dividends will pay the notes, but forget to add "less the interest annually during life, and all premium notes remaining unpaid at death." This last is seen for the first time when the policy comes.

The Worcester correspondent supposed the President of the Mutual Life could determine, according to Lambert, just how long the inquirers cars would last, and consequently how large his dividends would be, so he says he "wrote to head-quarters for exact information on the subject," and admits that he made the story out of whole cloth by refusing to give the name of the agent who made the alleged promises.—Well, he got "exact information" viz: that agents were not permitted to make promises respecting the future, as dividends were subject to influences beyond human control like all other business transactions, but, that, judging from past experience, they would be large, and that every exertion would be made to make them so.

Who can longer doubt the paternity of maker and endorser of the Worcester "yet up" in view of the loudness of the braying and smallness of the crop gathered. Starting out with a demolishing allegation of false pretenses against the company but utterly failing in evidence to sustain it in a single instance, wind up with official proof that the whole charge is false from "foundation to cap stone," and gracefully accept a little wholesome advice to withdraw application for policy, as this Company does not insure lice stock.

And now please allow the Mutual Life a little more space, not for promising what future dividends will be, but what they have been in the past, and what we hope and expect they will be in the future, by giving the names, residences, amount of policies issued and amount of additions paid to the families of a few more persons insured in the Mutual Life, who died in 1866 and '67.

Names.	Residence.	Am't Policy.	Am't paid.
Geo. M. Richmond,	Providence,	$10,000	$15,540.28
J. C. Hamilton,	Trenton, N. J.,	5,000	8,646.84

W. B. Folle,	Medfield, Mass.,	3,000	8,414.14
S. V. S. Wilcox,	Elizabeth, N. J.	4,000	8,066.75
Amount paid, eight policies,		$49,000
Amount paid on same,			$82,885.79

More examples next week. What does the three stars think of these late dividends, eh? Truly comment is unnecessary. Examination and comparison is again invited.

NOTICE.

All Policy Holders in the Mutual Life Insurance Co., insured at this Agency, are hereby informed that the dividend for 1867, is $2,124,000.75, and that each one will receive a certificate of the amount due him in time to apply it on his next annual premium or in payment addition to his policy, without any additional premiums or expense.

In conclusion, lest the stars may "flash in the pan," again let it be distinctly understood that the following are not promises of reckless agents.

"Mutual Life Ins. Co., of N. Y., plan purely mutual. Assets Twenty Millions. Dividends available at payment of second annual premium and increase annually, now amounting on some policies to one hundred and thirty-nine per cent. on the annual premium."—Ins. Monitor, 1867.

DIED.

HULME.—In Wellsville, on Thursday morning, Aug. 1st, MINNIE AGNES, only daughter of Robert R. and Elizabeth M. Hulme; aged 7 months and 27 days.

A Newly-Married Man Compelled to Kneel on His Late Wife's Grave and ask Her Forgiveness.

A jailor at Donaldsonville, Louisana, who had buried his wife in the early part of May, married again in three or four weeks afterward. This so shocked the moral sense of the community that a public meeting was called, and a procession formed and marched to his residence and took him out. After being marched out of his door yard to the tune of the dead march, with lighted candles on each side of him, the procession formed, music in front, the latter consisting of old cans, horns, tin pans, and a large bell, carried on the shoulders of two of the party which was tolled continually, while cries of mirth and jolity tended to enliven the scene.—After traversing the principal streets, and thoroughly arousing everybody in town who was not engaged in the festivities, proceeded to the final act, it now being near the hour of midnight. After forming properly, the procession moved to the graveyard, where the joke was finished by his kneeling down at the grave and asking pardon of his late wife's spirit, after which the party proceeded to a saloon, and taking a drink at his expense, he was permitted to rejoin his newmade wife—this being the third marriage bond he had entered into.
