excellent time to build over the bridge that crosses the water course near the "White Mill." It is decidedly unsafe, the posts and her portions of the frame work, being conrubly decayed, We do not exactly we said be done immediately.

GONE TO PENNSYLVANIA. -- Messrs. David Delano and Jacob Ranf, two tip-top coopers, left this village on Monday for Lottaville, Pa., where they have engaged a job of making oil barrels which will last om for the winter. We hope they will grell and return in the Spring with their pockets inll of "Sumps."

HURBA!-Lieut. Gov. Alvord, of Syracuse, and Major A. Morton, of Phoenix, will address the citizens of this place and vicinity, at Herrick's Hall, on Saturday evening of this week. Every one, almost, knows that Gov Alvord is a "giant" on all political questions and that Maj. Morton is also an able and eloquent speaker. Cram REVENUE COLLECTOR. - We understand that Mr. Stephen C. Fancher is circulating a petition asking his appointment as Revenue Collector, in place of Dr. W. W. Perkins. As Stephen is a Democrat of the "straightest soct," and a hearty supporter of "My Policy," we presume, if a change should be made, that he'll be the "happy man." "Steve," if you should succeed, how will it be about your children and ourn Alding down on the same cellar door?

DIED .- " Bobby" Wright, who has for a few months past kept the Saloon in the basement of the Dunbar and Register Block, died on Tuesday morning. He was around, as usual, during Monday We called at his room on Monday evening and found him in what we supposed to be, a fit. He was groaning fearfully, his countenance very much distorted and we thought then, that unless aid was speedily afforded that he would soon die. As we have already said, that event took place vesterday OLD STONE MILL.—The job of repairing the "Old Stone Mill," promises to he a hard one. A coffer dam has been been built across the water course, near the river, and another below the mill and a nump propelled by horse power and seveand men with pails are engaged in endeavoring to clear the mill pit, but thus far without much success. In the meantime the White Mill together with Baldwin & White's Machine and Blacksmith Shops are "standing idle. We hope for Mr. Williams sake that all needed repairs will be speedily completed.

"Willie" personally, is in all respects a worthy young man and is highly estoemed as such; but he is "cold pizen" towards the Union party of the country, and in him Mr. Johnson will find a follower after his "own heart." "Willie," you are a young man of too much good sense to act with the political organization with which you are at present connected. Just come over on the "Lord's side," and see what his disciples will do for you.

DISHONESTY .- A gentleman named Perkins who resides a short distance north of this village, took in a " foreign" girl who was in search of a place, giving her the privilege of working for her board until she could secure a situation where she could earn wages. She behaved well while there-She, also, stopped for some time in the fam ily of Mr. Norman Goit, she serving them faithfully and honestly. She afterwards returned to Mr. Perkins, and during the absence of himself and family, she gathered up some valuable clothing belonging to Mrs. Perkins and left for parts un known. We believe Mr. P. has not succeeded in ascertaining her whereabouts, up to the present time. Verily, Mr. P. can say, that he "took in" a stranger and then got took in himself.

A MAGNIFICENT MONUMENT, -- ()tis Bigelow, esq., has placed at the grave of his wife, one of the most magnificent monuments we ever saw in a country cemetery. It is constructed out of marble to represeut a "shattered oak." It is some ten or twelve feet high and is intended to describe that portion of an oak, that would remain after the top was broken off at the distance from the ground we have just indicated. The protuberances where the limbs were supposed to grow, are all correctly delineated, and the "bark" also is portrayed almost as naturally as if the real trunk was before the eyes. An Ivy vine gracefully entwines it, with the leaves beautifully displayed, while on a nicely turned scroll the name, time of birth and death of the deceased are inscribed. We would recommend to every person who can to visit and admire this splendid tribute to departed worth. Mr. Stanton, of Syracuse, is its Maker, than whom, there is no better mechanic in the country. Mr. Stanton is also erecting a monument to the memory of Judge Bigelow, a description of which will
