Urgent/Domands for Reduction of Tax on Whisky. New York, June 16. Tribune special says:
A deputation of distillers from Kentucky, Texas and Indiana are here urging upon the Ways and Means Committee the reduction of the tax on whisky to 60 cents per gallon. These men represent several millions of dollars and have on hand a large amount of whisky which they hade been unable to sell owing to the frauds which have been per-petrated and to illicit distillation. They are willing to guarantee that the government shall receive from their section alone more tax for three months than they have received from the whole U. S. the past current year. They show by facts and figures presented to the Committee that while the tax on whisky was 60 cents per gallon in 1864, the

The Committee will immediately mature a bill in regard to whisky and one or two a bill in regard to whisky and one or two other articles, fixing the reduction at a rate turned a verdict of wilful murder against Thomas Jones and his daughter Elizabeth. Senators, which will not exceed 75 cents per A son of his ten years of age saw them gallon, and may be fixed as low as 50 cents. The developments elicted by the impeachment investigation showing the enormous strength of the whisky ring, who are working to retain the the tax at two dollars, has induced the Committee and Congress to make the reduction and put a stop to the unprece dented frauds. A delegation of tobacco manufacturer were also before the Ways and Means Committee to-day, urging a modification in the law with a view of making the collection of tax on tobacco less difficult, and explaining some of the provisions of the law which are liable to be misunderstood by many who are ngaged in this business. The opinion is expressed among prominent Republicans, that Republican members of Congress can hardly have considered the full extent of the mischief which they were doing by refusing to act on General Schenck's tax

The House Military Committee will meet to-morrow, to consider the new articles of war, which were prepared some time ago by Generals Sherman, Sheridan and Auger, and will probably report during the week. They will also take up the new digest of the army laws as compiled by Judge Jones, of Ohio, and which is offered for publication.
