

LOCAL MATTERS.

The annual autumnal hues are beginning to show in all their usual glory.

Girls and a boy wanted at Charles-town, N. H. See advertisement.

Last week was a hard one for fairs, week has been very much better.

Sheriff Taylor committed Shipman Fisk to State prison on Monday.

Singing class meeting at O. D. Gray's Hall, Wednesday evening of next week at 7 o'clock.

The county fair at Fayetteville being held at the time of going to press we have no particulars of it this week.

Rev. Mr. Dickinson, presiding clerk of this district, will preach at the Methodist Church in this village on Sunday afternoon next.

Typoid fever is prevailing in this village to a very unusual extent for this time, there being some thirty cases at this time.

The Agricultural Society of Springfield will hold their annual Fair on Tuesday, Oct. 6th. Admission free and no entry fees for stock, &c.

Geo. O. Guild has just filled his barn with new styles fall and winter goods. Give him a call. No time for particulars this week.

A large drove of several hundred cattle passed through this place on Tuesday. The "procession" at one time reached from the depot grounds to the Square.

As oyster suppers are the betting place in these political times, we will mention that Dewey's restaurant is a capital place to have them served up.

The second annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held at Brattleboro on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 13th, 14th and 15th.

Mrs. L. C. Barker has just returned from New York with a fine selection of millinery and dress patterns, of which we will give more particulars in our columns next week.

Farmers who may wish to buy a first rate article of woolen goods and pay a moderate price, will find a capital good chance to do so by reference to Mr. Sabin's advertisement in this week's paper.

E. C. Hooper & Co., are serving their customers with the best of provisions and groceries. Their store is a regular boe-hive of life and business. See their advertisement for butter wanted.

There was quite a party of ladies in this village met this Thursday morning at the depot, and created some surprise among themselves when each found that all were going to Westminster, and all on separate business or visiting. As all wasn't it a Sorosis club, and the "accident" a mere blind to us poor men?

Mr. Amos Keyes of Claremont, N. H., while loading a cart on Tuesday last week, was thrown from the cart and fell, the wheels going over and so injuring him that he died in ten minutes.

A party of young men from this village went coon hunting in Walpole, Monday night, and brought home a large coon weighing over seventeen pounds. The skin has been stuffed and hangs in the post office.

Farnsworth and Alexander at Saxton's River, are making very extensive repairs on their woolen factory, building in addition to their mill, putting in an entire new set of machinery, in all an expense of some eleven or twelve thousand dollars.

Advertised Letters: Robert S. Bickford, D. H. Blake, M. H. Church, W. C. Dickey, Allen Goodman, M. R. Hendon, Henry H. Hartwell, William McLeod, William Parker, Perry & Co., David L. Whitney.

Among the numerous cases of fever now prevailing in this village, we hear of but few that have assumed a serious or malignant form. Mr. William Stone, who has always been remarkably healthy and vigorous, and through life has had very little sickness, is sick with slow fever, and as he is some seventy-five years of age, it very naturally excites some apprehensions.

We desire to make an additional commendation to a notice elsewhere on this page, of Dr. West's Analysis of the Bible. Mr. Geo. W. Wilson, who is the specially appointed agent, is now in town and will be happy to show the work, and we most heartily commend his mission. Very likely many will commence an examination with reluctance, but once begun they cannot fail to become attracted and at once to perceive its merits.

All those who would like to form a singing class in this village, under the direction of Mr. Sidney Holmes of Grafton, are requested to meet at O. D. Gray's Hall, next Wednesday, Oct. 7th, at 7 o'clock, P. M. All who have them, are requested to bring the book used last winter "The New Hymns." The singing class of Mr. Holmes here last winter, it will be recollected, was a fine success, giving universal satisfaction, and all interested in vocal music should give the above their attention and thus not lose a good opportunity.

As the cars were leaving Windsor depot on Friday evening, a gentleman on the train incautiously put his head out of the window, when his costly beaver was suddenly snatched by some rascal outside, who instantly sneaked off with his booty. The cars stopped, and efforts were made to find the scamp, but nothing could be discovered either of him or the hat.

COUNTY COURT.—The county court adjourned on Saturday evening.

The concluding proceedings will be found elsewhere. On Tuesday morning of last week, George Shearer, who had been convicted of stealing cattle, broke jail and escaped. It appears that with a jack-knife he cut through a hard two-inch oak plank, and dug through a brick wall in the rear end of the jail. It is thought he must have worked with great perseverance for many days. Albert Shipman, arrested for several thefts in Westminster, was convicted of stealing a harness of John Perry in that town, and sentenced one year to State prison.

Shipman was in jail at the time Shearer escaped, but declined to avail himself of the opportunity thus offered, and was the first to give warning of the escape. There are still four indictments hanging over him, one for stealing a horse from Ambrose Arnold, one for stealing another harness from S. K. Cobb, another for stealing a wagon from Guy Clark, all in Westminster, and also another for stealing a horse from Mr. Davis, of Georgia, Vt. Samuel Fisk, the accomplice of Shearer in stealing cattle in Guilford, was sentenced to State prison for five years.

GRAFTON.—Mr. E. S. Sabin, Jr., is now running his mill on full time, having extensively repaired his factory, removed old machinery and replaced it with new. Mr. S. understands his business and the difference fully between cloth made of shoddy and genuine wool, and believes that it pays better, to both the manufacturer and the purchaser, to produce nothing but good cloth, and already finds that his goods are appreciated in market. We make these remarks from having seen a sample of fancy "diagonal" cloth recently made at his mill which will certainly compare favorably with the best of imported goods, and it will be seen by his advertisement in another column, that he is desirous of serving the buying public in a satisfactory manner, in which we are sure he will not fail. Success to friend Sabin and his manufactory.

Business with the merchants in Grafton is brisk this fall, and all have full stores. Several new houses are being built on School street this season. The village of Grafton is steadily growing.—A very excellent select school is now being kept by Mr. and Mrs. Goldard.

A Grant and Colfax flag was recently hung across Maine street. Seymourites rejoice.

ANDOVER.—Our correspondent "Hall" says in explanation of having had three teachers in district No. 4, that it was in no way the fault of the district, the first teacher having left because of the sickness of her mother, and the second only intended to keep till they could get another.

Miss Eliza L. Stickney has opened a select school at the centre of the town which deserves to be well patronized.

The new Baptist church at Peasville, which was finished last summer, is not only an ornament to the place, but an example of what faith and perseverance will accomplish. The society had needed the church for a long time, and its erection is due mainly to the efforts of their pastor, Rev. Mr. Walker.

A clergyman in a village not fifty miles from Andover, while speaking of the late earthquake in South America in one of his sermons, said, "This was so far off that we think but little about it, but what should we think if it had been here, and swallowed us all up?"

NEW FIRM.—Messrs. Tilden & Landon will accept our acknowledgment of a fine box of Fairhaven oysters in the shell, and also a sealed can of fresh oysters of the same kind, both the largest and fairest of the oyster tribe. Messrs. Tilden & Landon open a fish and oyster market this week on Canal street in Spaulding's store opposite Canal bridge, and will be able to furnish anything in this line both salt and fresh. These gentlemen are from Fairhaven, Ct., and appear to be enterprising, and we are not only happy to add them to the business of our village, but hope they may meet with a full measure of success.

PLYMOUTH.—The Spathe Iron Co., are working the steel mine in South Plymouth north of the old meeting house. They are working it night and day with two sets of bands. The ore grows richer as they go down and gives good promise for the future.

The people of Plymouth had a good view of the balloon which recently ascended from Rutland.

CHESTER.—George A. Hall has nearly completed his new furniture store at Chester depot, and visits the markets this week to select his goods; being master of his business, and courteous and obliging to his customers, George will be the man to buy of, if any wanting goods in his line.

Capt. J. C. Baker of Wallingford, was driving near Claremont a few days since, when something gave way about the harness, frightening the horse which ran, demolishing the wagon, and throwing out and considerably injuring the driver, who was insensible for a time, but is now recovering.

WINDHAM COUNTY COURT.

E. A. Plimpton, et al, vs. Marcus White. This was an action of assumpsit to recover the price of certain property sold to defendant by the plaintiffs as Administrators of the estate of Geo. A. White, late of Wardboro, deceased.

The evidence of plaintiffs tended to show that the said George A. died March 11, 1867; that a few days thereafter they were appointed Administrators of said estate; that soon after their appointment they sold to said defendant about $1500 worth of the property belonging to said estate, and gave defendant possession of the same about April 1, 1867. The defendant claimed, and his evidence tended to show, that about one year before he sold this same property to said George A., who was his son, and that it had never been paid for; that the said George A. during his last sickness resold the property in question to him, with the understanding and agreement that the amount was to apply in part payment of said George A.'s indebtedness to him, and that pursuant to such sale he took said property into his possession about March 1. The jury returned a verdict for plaintiffs to recover $1543 damages. Wheeler and Stoughton for plaintiffs Davenport and Stoddard for defendant.

Norman Webster vs. A. B. Melendy. Action on the case for slanderous words. The plaintiff claimed that defendant charged him with stealing a harness and shearing a horse's tail. Defendant denied speaking the words. Verdict for plaintiff $583.00. Stoughton, Davenport, and Howe for plaintiff. Field & Tyler, and Wheeler for defendant.

Joseph H. Peck vs. Stratton. Action against town for town bounty. The court ordered a verdict for defendant on the testimony adduced, to which the plaintiff excepted. Stoddard and Davenport for plaintiff. Wheeler and Stoughton for defendant.

E. H. Read vs. Eliakim Amidon.—Action on the case against inn-keeper for a pair of fur gloves. This action was tried before a justice in Jamaica, and afterwards on appeal tried before the county court at the Sept. term 1867, which trial resulted in a verdict for defendant. At the Supreme court, February, 1868, the judgment was reversed and a new trial granted. The testimony of plaintiff tended to show that he went to defendant's inn as a witness in a justice court; that he placed his gloves and overcoat on a bench, no other accommodations for storing such things being provided; that he had dinner and horse keeping, and was, in fact, a guest of defendant; that on starting home, he discovered the loss of his gloves and called on defendant for them, and that search was made which proved unavailing. The testimony of defendant tended to show that said gloves were never placed in his custody; that he knew nothing of plaintiff's intention to become his guest until he called for dinner some hours after his arrival; that the gloves were used during the day by plaintiff and his brothers; that the gloves were worn away by plaintiff at his departure; and that he knew nothing of their loss until some days afterwards.—Verdict for plaintiff, $8.19. Stoughton, Wheeler, and Stoddard for plaintiff.—Davenport and Kellogg for defendant.

State vs. George Shearer and Samuel Fisk. Indictment for larceny. The respondents pleaded not guilty and were put on trial. The evidence in the case tended to show that the respondents on the night of August 28th, 1868, stole from the pastures of T. E. Burdick and one Ashcraft, in the south part of Guilford, two yoke of oxen; drove them that night up the Green River road to within about three miles of Wilmington village, where they remained secreted in the woods all day Saturday. On Saturday evening they started again, driving said oxen directly through Wilmington village, en route for New York, where it is supposed they intended to dispose of them. That the people in the vicinity where the oxen were stolen started in pursuit on Saturday, following the trail, and upon their arrival at Wilmington procured further assistance and followed on, overtaking the oxen and the respondents with them, about eight miles west of Wilmington, on the road to Bennington. The respondents contended that they were hired by parties unknown to drive the oxen to Bennington, and that they did not know that the oxen were stolen property, and never saw them until said oxen were near Wilmington.—Verdict, guilty, and they were remanded to jail to await sentence. States Attorney for prosecution. Davenport and C. E. Arnold for respondents.

Beriah Wheeler, et al, vs. Townshend. Action on the case for damages by reason of plaintiff's wagon breaking through a bridge. The plaintiffs claimed to recover for injuries done to their wagon, and also for the use of said wagon while undergoing repairs. Defendants conceded their liability for the first named, but denied the other. Verdict for plaintiffs, $71.00. Wheeler and Clarke for plaintiffs. Stoddard and Kellogg for defendants.

John F. Perry vs. John C. Richardson. Action on the case. It appeared that the plaintiff and defendant were driving sheep in company from Westminster, East Parish, to a pasture in the west part of the same town. While on the road, the defendant took plaintiff's horse with his permission, and went ahead to repair the fence while the plaintiff followed with the sheep. The defendant drove to the pasture, hitched and covered up the horse and repaired the fence, and returning, met the plaintiff at a barn some one-half mile distant from the pasture, into which he had put the sheep in consequence of a heavy rain. Plaintiff claimed that defendant did not use ordinary care in this; that he drove the horse, which was a valuable one, immoderately, and left him exposed to a cold and severe rain, in consequence of which, the horse took cold, had a lung fever and died. Defendant claimed that he drove to the pasture hitched the horse and covered him with the blanket as directed by the plaintiff, and that the horse was not properly cared for by plaintiff after his return.—The jury, after remaining out 25 hours, failed to agree, standing 4 for plaintiff, 8 for defendant. Eddy and Davenport for plaintiff. Arnold and Stoddard for defendant.

Here They Come!

—Chief Justice Chase has written a letter to a friend in Zanesville, Ohio, in which he strongly urges the claims of Grant and Colfax, and avows himself warmly in favor of their election.

—In a single club that paraded on Tuesday night, at the Union League meeting in Philadelphia, there marched 25 men who voted the democratic ticket last fall.

—The letter of Gen. Dix declaring in favor of Grant and Colfax was written to John J. Cisco, the New York banker, who has also come out for Grant.

—Democracy, in the words of ex-Senator Bright, when presiding over the Kentucky democracy, would pay the national debt in paper; and then "let the paper take care of itself."

—Mr. Cleveland, the postmaster at Hartford, who went over to democracy two years ago, has sent on his resignation to the Department at Washington, and will take the stump for Grant and Colfax next week.

—In one district in Westchester county, New York, where last year the republicans polled 149 votes, there are now three Grant clubs, with a membership of about 300 voters. This looks like business.

Vermont News.

—Stephen Denly, the oldest male inhabitant of Bennington, Vt., and his sister, aged eighty-one years and 6 months, recently ascended Mount Anthony, and visited the observatory on its summit.

—Ten arrests were made last week by United States Marshal Henry and Deputy Marshals Flanagan and Rand, for violations of the Internal Revenue Law, for smuggling. The parties all gave bail. Joel Gibson of Bethel, charged with passing counterfeit money, was also arrested, failed to give bail, and was committed to jail. All these parties were indicted at the late term of the United States Circuit Court.

—On Thursday forenoon, the 17th, a man named Samuel Cronin, of White River Junction, was instantly killed at that place. He was sitting on the side of a flat-bottomed car, and just as an engine was passing on a side-track, the wind blew off his hat, and in trying to catch it, he lost his balance, and fell under the passing engine, which cut off his head. He had been employed at that station for quite a number of years, and was a good man. He left a family.

—Station agent Williams at Essex Junction recently found four pocket books in one of the outbuildings at that station, where they had been thrown by the pickpockets, after they had "gone through" them. Among them was the wallet of Hon. Josiah Tuttle of Essex, from which the money and a few revenue stamps had been taken, but in which sundry private papers remained intact, much to the satisfaction of the owner.

—As two ladies in Addison were taking a quiet ride, about 8 o'clock in the evening, Monday of last week, suddenly a man attempted to get into the wagon. He caught hold of one lady's wrist, and she struck the horse with the reins, and the sudden start released her hand, and threw the would be robber to the ground. The man was thick-set, with long black hair, and of dark complexion. The horse did not check his speed until arriving at the house of J. H. Everest, Esq., where the ladies are boarding. No clue has been obtained of the ruffian.

—In the Old Countryman of Dec. 6, 1832, there appeared the notice of the marriage at Springfield, Vt., of Horatia H. Weed, of Lowell, to Miss Sophronia A. Wright, of Springfield, with a poetical verse to the effect that a better gardener was never seen, for he had weeded right. No doubt he has since then reversed the practice of gardeners and raised a fine crop of weeds.

BASE BALL.—There was a match game of Base Ball played on the common at North Chester on Saturday, between the 1st nine of the Union of Springfield and the Chester, in which the Union men were victorious, as will be seen by the following score:

Table with columns for UNIONS and CHESTER, listing players and scores.

Empire-F. Rogers, Williams River Club. Scores—W. Loveland for Union, E. Foster for Chester. The Union wish to return their thanks to the Chesters for a splendid supper, and gentlemanly treatment.

C. S. Cutting, of West Derby, has this year grown from 24 acres, 65 bushels of nice, clean wheat.

Dr. Gage at Brattleboro. This gentleman is still being visited by a large number of patients, at the Rev. Home in Brattleboro, many of whom already report themselves materially benefited, as will be seen by the Brattleboro papers. One remarkable case is that of Mr. Geo. W. Betteley, of Williamsville, who had not been able to put his hand to his head or behind him, in six years, caused by an injury, restored in a short time. Mr. E. Barwell, of Brattleboro, since treatment has dispensed with his crutches. Mr. J. W. Morgan, cured of a complication of diseases, and a lady cured of asthma.—For further particulars see circulars. Those wishing to avail themselves of his services should call soon as he remains until the 10th only. 40
