Last year the Radicals saved themselves only by pretending wills in layor of supporting the President's policy, which the people of this State endosed aimost unanimously, one year ago. It is the same policy now, and the Radicals venture to oppose it Politicians may

"wheel about and turn about, and jump Jim Crow," but the voters do not favor such gyrations. In 1864, when there was a square fight, the Radicals carried the State by but seven thousand in a vote of half a million. A change of two per cent in the vote would have given the State to the Democracy, who fought the battle unaided. It would not be difficult to count thousands of representative citizens who did not vote for McClellan in 1864, who are warmly in favor of supporting the President; and this is the great issue before the people. The WM. W. GETTING WEARY. The great desire of the American people during the war was for an honorable peace. When the war closed, they desired that the peace should be real and permanent. But a number of rash and extreme men say there shall be no peace. Trade, industry, domestic quiet, national recuperation, are, they preach, not to be encouraged. Another war must be entered upon at their bidding. They ask too much. The country is wearying of them. They will do wisely if they extinguish their torches and hang up their swords. They have been tolerated those special and well deserved efforts for some time now, but they and their flaming orators will soon be looked upon as madmen, or worse.

An Old Stove.—Probably the oldest stove in the United States, says the Louisville (Ky.) Democrat, is one which warms the hall of Virginia's amount of ability, popularity, and Capitol at Richmond. It was made personal favor and weight of characin England and sent to Virginia in ter, that rigorously and devotedly put 1770. and warmed the House of Burgesses for sixty years before it was removed to its present location, where it has been for thirty years. It has survived three British monarchs; has been contemporaneous with four kingly monarchies, two republics and two imperial governments of France.— The great republic of America has been torn by internecine strife, the breaches partly healed, and still the old stove remains, unmoved in the midst of all.

The welcome sun rose in all his majesty, promising another fine day or the enjoyment of the holiday folks. Crowds began to pour in at an early hour from every town in the County, and by afternoon it was estimated that 15,000 people were at the Fair.

An attractive feature on the ground, was a matched game of Base Ball between the "Independents" and the "Stars" of Batavia. At the close of nine innings, they were even, and on playing the tenth, the Stars beat their adversaries by four scores.

The show in Floral Hall was quite intresting, but the articles exhibited were not near so numerous as ought to by be the farmers' wives of Genesee County; it does not speak well for their enterprise and taste in such matters.
