

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE FAIR is in the full tide of successful operation. We will next week furnish as full a report as possible.

Auction.—Six good work horses, with harnesses, wagons, &c., will be sold in front of Candler's Hotel, on Saturday, at 10 o'clock.

Flora, &c.—We call the attention of the public generally to the Retail Price List of Messrs. Northrup & Johnson, at the Fayetteville Mills.

On a Visit.—Mrs. Morgan Gardner, of Utica, former resident of this village, is enjoining at the Candler Hotel with her splendid livery, for a short season.

OWNERS WANTED.—Numerous articles of tin ware, left in the grove after the reception of the 149th Regiment, may be obtained by calling at the residence of Mr. L. H. Eaton.

FIREMEN'S BALL.—The Manlius Fire Department will give their ninth annual ball on Friday evening of this week. They have made ample preparations for a good time.

"THE HUNT IS UP."—The huntsmen of Oran and Pompey have chosen sides, and will have a grand squirrel hunt a week from Saturday. We will bet on the winning side.

1874.—The veterans of the 1874th regiment celebrated their third anniversary on Thursday last, at Baldwinsville, and had a very agreeable time. We notice among the officers for the ensuing year, Mr. Warren L. Winslow, of Manlius, as Corresponding Secretary.

QUARTERLY MEETING.—On Saturday and Sunday next occurs the first quarterly meeting at the M. E. Church in this village. Preaching by the Presiding Elder, Rev. L. C. Queal, at 2 p. m. on Saturday, and services on Sunday at the usual hour.

TO THE LADIES.—By an advertisement under the head of Local Notices, Misses Kellam of some new inducements to the ladies to call on them for the latest styles of goods in the millinery line.

LAST NIGHT.—Friday (this) evening is the only evening that our citizens will be privileged to see the renowned play "Black Crook," which was highly appreciated Thursday (last) evening by those who attended. Those who have not witnessed this "Sable Curvatore" as played in the cities can now avail themselves of this opportunity.

REAL ESTATE.—HONG CHARLES H. Moad has purchased the residence of Mr. John J. Morse on Clinton street—price $2100. Mr. Morse has purchased the lot on the south east corner of Clinton and Warren streets of Capt. Bangs for $700, and will erect a dwelling house there on this season.

FURNITURE.—A new lot of furniture of the latest styles, combining more than ever the beautiful with the useful, has just been got in by Messrs. J. & D. H. Decker; and also a very fine lot of hair mattresses. We refer the reader to their advertisements in other columns.

THE WEATHER.—Last week we chronicled the thermometer as up among the nineties—this week we notice the first hard frost of the season, on Monday night last. This is somewhat later than last year, we believe. Warm weather has now left us, but we have yet in prospect the beautiful but brief Indian summer, with the gorgeous hues of Autumn, the precursor of sleet and snow. Prepare now for Winter, in good season.

A VISITOR.—The editor of the Mohawk Valley Register, Fort Plain, recently paid a visit to Fayetteville, and in his paper expresses himself pleased with the courtesies of several of our citizens, and with the village. He says he shall "long remember his pleasant visit." When he pays another visit, we hope not to be "found out."

Too Bad.—The Syracuse Journal says that on Tuesday of last week Mr. Amos B. Howe, of that city, got on board the noon train to proceed to Manlius, with $3,000 in his pockets to take up a mortgage. Whilst getting into the car, he was jostled by three young men, and soon after discovered his loss. No trace of the money, or thieving is yet obtained. Mr. Howe is sixty years of age. Look out for that elegant Syracuse depot—it is a nest of thieves.

GRAPES.—A few days since we were gratified with a visit to the grapeery of Mr. Louis Hueber in this village, who has a choice and excellent selection of varieties. His exhibition at the Fair last year attracted much attention, as no doubt will be the case at the present Fair. Those who cultivate this princely fruit, and those who might but don't do so, should examine his extensive stock.

MILTON S. PRICE.—This merchant prince of Syracuse, who, twenty odd years ago, was employed as clerk in the store now occupied by Snell, Smith & Co. in this village, and has risen to his present position through the merits of close application to business, strict integrity, and a free and judicious use of printer's ink and paper, lays before our readers an advertisement, calculated to attract the notice of all classes who visit the city, to one of the cheapest and best places to trade in that metropolis.

BY.—Our friend "Jeems," of the Baldwinsville Gazette, hasn't sent us that greenback yet, for giving him a Scripture lesson, nor has he had a word to say thereabout! We must believe, therefore, that "Jeems" considers himself best, and has resolved that people may even dance, if they choose, for aught he cares. But, Jeems, they who dance pay the fiddler; should so just a rule not be observed in Scriptural teachings on the same subject? Where's the Y you promised us—that's the question!

Reception of the 149th.

The anniversary celebration of the gallant veterans of the 149th occurring on the day before our publication last week, gave us too little time to publish more than a brief mention of the exercises attendant upon their reception here. This week we present upon the first page the several addresses, and now give a bird's-eye view of the proceedings.

The morning was ushered in by the firing of cannon and ringing of bells, and the warm bright sun gave promise of the clear and warm day which followed. The noble flag staff bore our glorious standard in especial honor of the coming veterans—a mark of respect, by the way, which was not paid to the last Fourth of July—and many stores and residences were tastefully decorated. The veterans and their friends, a goodly number from wide distances, arrived at about 10 o'clock, and were met by a delegation headed by Colonels Burbank and Pratt, and escorted by Co. H, of the 80th Regiment N. G., Capt. Buell, and the Manlius firemen, whose fine appearance and beautifully decorated engine were the theme of such praise. The fine martial music was furnished by Ghem's celebrated Band of Syracuse, the Drum Corps of the 80th Regiment, and by the new Mechanic's Band of this village, whose performances were exceedingly creditable to them. Out of course the cynosurus of all eyes were the VETERANS OF THE 149th—the brave boys of Lookout Mountain and the "March to the Sea," whose glorious banner, riddled into tatters by countless bullets, showed that they were no holiday soldiers, but the few left of many who had successfully contested many well fought fields, and whose deeds will forever live in history and song and story. To see such men and to look upon such a banner as they bore, is truly a marked event of a lifetime.

Proceeding to the grounds, which were beautifully decorated, the evergreen motto at the entrance, "Welcome to the Brave," invited the guests to bountiful tables. The platform was festooned with the national colors, and over the centre a large evergreen wreath, with a white star (indicating the "White Star Division") and "149." The addresses were then delivered as published on our first page. The intellectual feast over, the Veterans and other guests proceeded to assault the formidable array of rations that boldly confronted them, the tables being manured by a bevy of the fair daughters of the village, to whom the Veterans at once surrendered and became willing prisoners. We had not obtained a schedule of the rations furnished, being satisfied with the fact that there was abundance, but the "commissary" of the Standard, Lt. Col. Summers, who is too good a soldier to be unkind of his haversack, tells us in his paper that after all were feasted, "there were more than seven baskets full left." And he says: "An idea may be obtained of the bountiful supply of rations when we state that five thousand biscuits, eight hundred pumpkin pies, five hundred chickens, one hundred turkeys, and two hundred pounds of butter and sandwiches, cakes, &c., in proportion, were offered by the patriotic, generous citizens for the occasion." Such bountiful provision speaks well not only for the liberality of the citizens of this village, but also, it should in justice be said, of the citizens of Manlius, Oran and other parts of the town, and also of the citizens of the noble and patriotic town of Pompey.

After the feast, the "assembly" was called by the bugler of the 149th, and Gen. Barnum assumed the chair as President of the "White Star Association." He offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in all future proceedings of this Association the former rank in the service shall not be recognized, and that the term Comrade be employed as applicable to all the members. The following officers of the Association were elected, President—Comrade James V. Kendall. Vice Presidents—Comrades Jacob Knapp, Wm. Puller, Daniel McGord, John Hartger. Secretaries—Comrades George G. Truair, John Falvey, Daniel Gere, Albert Doonittle, D. N. Marvin. Treasurer—Comrade Thos. Merriam. Executive Committee—Comrades H. A. Barnum, Moses Summers, H. N. Burbank, William Cahill, Philip Patsen. Committee on Membership—Comrades O. L. F. Brown, Joseph Jay, E. F. Hopkins.

After these officers were installed, the Veterans adopted, with cheers, a resolution expressive of their appreciation of the cordial welcome extended to them. This was very happily replied to by Hiram Eaton, Esq., and Col. Burbank. The citizens of Baldwinsville here presented, through Comrade James V. Kendall, an invitation to hold their next anniversary at that place, which was accepted. Geo. C. Anderson, one of the Veterans, presented to Gen. Barnum a painting executed by himself, faithfully representing a scene in which the 149th was engaged—the burning of a large rosin and turpentine manufactory on the dividing line of North and South Carolina. The picture represents the heavy clouds of black smoke hanging over the burning buildings, and the clear space below where the 149th is marching.

We feel proud that the citizens of Manlius so nobly performed their duty, and too much praise cannot be awarded to the members of the several committees, and to the officers of the day, for the willing and successful manner in which they executed the duties assigned to them. There is good reason to believe that the main object—a sincere and cordial welcome to the gallant boys of the 149th—was fully accomplished. The Syracuse Journal concludes a very faithful sketch of the day's proceedings with these remarks: "The anniversary was a most complete success in every respect, which was especially owing to the noble efforts of the citizens of Fayetteville, whose enthusiasm was unbounded. The village was gaily ornamented with the national colors, and many of the residences manifested their patriotic sentiments by decorations of red, white and blue, prominent among which was that of Mrs. Gage, which was lustily cheered by the 'Vets.' The Standard also remarks: "It was also universally conceded that it was utterly impossible for any excursion or celebration to be more successful, or for any people to give a more hearty welcome or more liberal entertainment than the generous people of Fayetteville.

The Standard (one of whose editors, Lt. Col. Summers, bore a prominent part in the day's proceedings, as one of the veterans of the 149th) published the several addresses on Friday, with its usual enterprise, and we reprint them from its copy.

Base Ball. A match game between the first nine of the Manlius Club and the Fayetteville Club, was played on Thursday last on the grounds of the latter, which resulted in the defeat of the former by the following score.

Table with columns for MANLIUS and FAYETTEVILLE, listing players and scores.

The first nine of the Meteor Club, of Bridgeport, played a second match game with the Ocean Club, of North Manlius, off the grounds of the latter, on Saturday last. The Neptunians triumphed in the well contested game, as will be seen by the following score.

Good Work.—We have recently seen some garments from the tailoring establishment of Messrs. Rotenbury & Binndall of Manlius, which testify in a most flattering manner both to neatness and skill of these gentlemen in all that adorns "the outer man." The garments alluded to are unsurpassed in fit and in neatness of the work upon them, eliciting the high compliment from the better half of the gentleman for whom they were made, that the neatness and delicacy of the stitching excelled anything she had ever before seen on a man's garment, and she could not hope to equal it herself. Messrs. R. & B. do not furnish what is called slop or shoddy work, but any one desiring a good garment and at a moderate price, may find everything furnished him at this establishment, from the cloth itself to the garment—complete.

Circuit Court.—In this Court, now in session in Syracuse, the case of Harriet C. Marsh against Chasuncey G. Lewis was tried last week. The plaintiff is wife of Randall Marsh, and the defendant is a resident of Pompey, about 76 years of age. The action was for slander, the plaintiff having been charged with various thefts, and the damages were laid at $2,000. On Friday last the jury returned a verdict for plaintiff for $15, after remaining out all night. The case excited great interest in the neighborhood of the parties, and quite a crowd attended the witnesses and spectators.

ENTERPRISING BUSINESS FIRM.—Among our enterprising business firms, none exceed that of Messrs. Bartlett & Eaton, whose co-partnership has been attended with the greatest success, and whose go-ahead principles are constantly adding much attraction to public patronage. The drug department is replete with everything usually kept in a first class drug store, and both gentlemen being thoroughly acquainted with that branch of business, give the best satisfaction both as regards care and correctness in gutting up prescriptions, and price. Other departments are equally well superintended, especially the clothing department. It is needless to comment on this branch, except to recommend new comers and others who have not called on them, to call and see their styles, examine prices, and order a suit of clothes. See their new advertisement.
